‘Getting to grips with tick-borne encephalitis’ webinar video available

The recording of the tick-borne encephalitis webinar on 28 March 2024 now added to TravelHealthPro

New for 2024, our team will be hosting regular, free of charge, webinar sessions on Zoom, available to all health professionals interested in travel health.

We will be discussing recent website updates such as our news items, factsheets or country information pages, disease and vaccination changes, or clinical scenarios from our advice line.

There will be a presentation followed by time to ask questions. These events will be live but also recorded and made available on TravelHealthPro.

The second session was held on 28 March 2024: ‘Getting to grips with tick-borne encephalitis’. A recording of the session is now available.

The details of the next webinar session will be published in due course.
