‘Getting to grips with advising pregnant travellers’ webinar video available

The recording of the lunchtime session on 27 September 2024 now added to TravelHealthPro

New for 2024, our team will be hosting regular, free of charge, webinar sessions on Zoom, available to all health professionals interested in travel health.

We will be discussing recent website updates such as our news items, factsheets or country information pages, disease and vaccination changes, or clinical scenarios from our advice line.

There will be a presentation followed by time to ask questions. These events will be live but also recorded and made available on TravelHealthPro.

The latest session was held on 27 September 2024: ‘Getting to grips with advising pregnant travellers’. A recording of the session is now available.

Details of the next webinar session will be published in due course.
